

ABSTRACT

A wakeboard foot binding combination comprising including a base plate having a lower surface for contact with the upper surface of the wakeboard and having an upper surface on which to mount a foot binding where the base plate forms a pair of facing arcuate slots therethrough, between the upper surface to the lower surface, one the slot
5 located on each side of the foot binding, for supporting the foot binding thereon; and, a foot binding attached to the base plate.